OPPOSE TURK CLAIM TO THRACE

ALLIED POWERS UNITED AGAINST TURKS' DEMAND

Balkan States also Oppose Angora Government's Efforts to Extend Territory Westward

SMALL POWERS MEET TO DECIDE ATTITUDE TO BE ADOPTED

America and Britain to Transfer Interests from Constantinople if Peace Fails

LAUSANNE —By The Associated Press.—The question of Thrace was again before the commission on military and territorial matters at the conference Thursday. Ismet Pasha was expected to make a long speech on Turkey's claim for a plebiscite in western Thrace.

The enthusiasm of the Turkish delegates for a plebiscite has evidently been considerably dampened by the discovery that England, Italy and France are solidly united against the claims of the Turks to Western Thrace. The nationalists are also considering the significance of a meeting of the Balkan delegates Wednesday night at which it is understood there was a discussion of the policy to be adopted by the Balkan states on the question of western Thrace.

It was apparent that Greece, Rumania and Jugo-Slavia, in view of the opposition to a plebiscite expressed Wednesday by the entente spokesman have the hearty support of the three great powers in their efforts to prevent Turkey from extending her western boundary beyond the Maritza river.

The meeting of the Balkan representatives, which was called by former Premier Venizelos of Greece, was regarded in conference circles as of considerable importance because it was the first time in many years that Greece, Bulgaria, Jugo-Slavia and Rumania had come together to present a united front on a clearly defined issue.

Pull Out if Peace Fails

CONSTANTINOPLE —By The Associated Press.—American and British interests are taking steps to remove their property and personnel in the event that the Lausanne conference fails to accomplish its purpose of establishing peace in the near east.

The largest and oldest business house in Turkey began today to transfer its entire stocks valued at $1,500,000 from the main street of the city, to the docks so that its goods might be immediately removed.

SIGNBOARDS ALONG ROADS THREATENED WITH EXTINCTION

MADISON, Wis.—Signboards along highways are going to have a hard fight for life when the 1923 session of the legislature gets under way. This is indicated by resolutions passed by county boards now in session and by previous action by the legislators.

Several county legislative bodies in the state have gone on record as favoring the removal of all signs along state and county highways, and the enactment of a law that will prohibit any further plastering of the roads of the state.

OVER ONE HALF OF THOSE EXAMINED HERE HAVE GOITRE

Rather Startling Result Found in Free Chest Clinic Just Concluded

EIGHTEEN PER CENT FOUND AFFECTED WITH TUBERCULOSIS

Thirteen Persons are Ordered to a Sanatorium

Approximately 231 examinations were completed at the free chest clinic of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association which closed a three day session at the city hall Wednesday. It is estimated that nearly 150 patients were turned away without examination.

Approximately 18 per cent of those examined were found to have tuberculosis in an active or arrested stage, or to be suspicious cases. This classification included: presumptive tuberculosis, 11 patients; suspicious (positive diagnosis being withheld pending further examination), 3; quiescent, 5; sealed lesions, 13; tuberculous glands, 5; tuberculous pleurisy, 2; tuberculous laryngitis, 2. The condition of 13 was such that immediate sanatorium treatment was recommended.

That the work of the clinic extends far beyond the diagnosis of tuberculosis is shown by the findings. Simple goitre takes the lead among the defects found, 121 of the patients showing an enlargement of the thyroid gland. The fact that this condition responds to medical treatment in the early stages, especially in children, was emphasized, and patients were referred to their physicians for treatment.

Eighty-two patients had defective tonsils, and 66 had decayed teeth. Patients were advised to give these defects prompt attention as neglect often results in the development of serious diseases.

Many Heart Cases

Seventy-four had enlarged glands and 25 were suffering from heart trouble. Other findings were: pleurisy, 11 patients; asthma, 9; nose and throat defects, 13; bronchitis, 18. Sixty-nine of the patients had been directly exposed to tuberculosis through close contact.

Seventy-four of those examined had never been vaccinated. The fact that there were in Wisconsin last year over 5,000 cases of smallpox, for which vaccination is an absolute preventative, was used as an argument to show the necessity for this simple and important method of self-protection.

Few Are Normal

Only 18 of those examined were found to be physically normal, and 168 had some condition which required medical attention.

Appreciation for the free service afforded by the clinic was expressed by practically every patient, and a number wished to pay for their examinations. Especially grateful was one man, who had his fourth clinic examination yesterday. At the first clinic, two years ago, he was found to have active tuberculosis; his second chart, six months later, showed that he was somewhat improved. After the third examination, six months later, he was charted as "quiescent," and finally today came the best diagnosis of all—"Disease arrested."

"Wish I had a million dollars to buy seals," the man exclaimed as he joyfully showed his chart to workers. "That wouldn't any more than pay for what these clinics have done for me."

High praise for the splendid cooperation received from the La Crosse health department, public health nurses, the hospitals and student nurses, and other volunteer workers was expressed by members of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association staff.

Comes Back Next Year

The traveling clinic will return again twice next year, if this year's Christmas Seal sale is large enough to finance the work, F. H. Scoefield, head of the local branch of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, under whose auspices the clinic was held, stated today.

RAVET NOT MEMBER OF MICHIGAN STATE POLICE

MARQUETTE, Mich. — Captain Archie Downing, in charge of the detachment of the Michigan state police in the Upper Peninsula, said that Albert Ravet, now serving a 30-day sentence in the Dickinson county jail at Iron Mountain, is not a member of the force but was discharged November 6 for drunkenness. The captain said a bench warrant would be sought for the arrest of Ravet on charges of impersonating an officer. Ravet claimed he was a member of the state police when arraigned.

SANTA CLAUS WILL ARRIVE HERE ON DECEMBER SECOND

Invites all Kiddies to be at Burlington Depot Between One and One-thirty

WINDOW LIGHTS TO BE TURNED ON AT EIGHT IN THE EVENING

Santa Takes Names of all Good Little Boys and Girls

EVERY day brings the plans for La Crosse's second community Christmas opening nearer to completion. The Christmas trees have made their appearance on the light standards and the electricians are standing by for the word to start their part of the work.

It will be recalled that last year, through a most unfortunate delay, the trees were not in place until some time after the formal opening. That has been taken care of this year, and everything will go without a hitch.

In accordance with the plan adopted by the committee, the lights in the windows and the streets will not be turned on until eight o'clock. At that time the windows will be unveiled, the whistles will blow and the bells will ring. The stores will then be thrown open for one hour, but no goods will be sold. You will be invited to look and ask questions to your heart's content, but selling will not be inaugurated until Saturday morning.

Santa Claus will arrive Saturday, December 2, between 1 and 1:30 p. m. and wants all the kids to be at the Burlington depot to meet him. Read the following letter, received from him today:

"Dear Everybody:

"Well, I am almost ready to start on my journey to La Crosse. I am having a lot of trouble with my biggest Teddy Bear. He wants to come to La Crosse, but I can't bring him because he has to take care of all the littlye tiny Teddy Bears that are growing up for next year's Christmas. I'll probably have to put him in the dungeon for a while until he promises to be good.

"Mrs. Santa Claus told you in her letter that she couldn't tell how she found out what sizes and colors people wanted. Well, that's all right for that kind of a secret, but I've got a real secret for you little folks, and that is how I get the names of all good little boys and girls in my big book. Gather 'round, now, for this is awfully secret. Sh-h-h-h!

"I don't write the names in at all. You see, the paper in this book of mine is magic paper, and the names of all good boys and girls come on the paper and stay there as long as they are good. But just as soon as you are naughty, presto: off goes the name. Of course, if you are sorry for being naughty and try to be good, your name comes right back on the book, and the better you are the bigger your name gets. So you see that on my book some names are very tiny, while some are so big they almost take up a whole page. And here's something else. Most of the names of La Crosse children are very large, but some, I am sorry to say, are very small, and some have disappeared altogether. So I want everybody to be real good, because I want every boy and girl in La Crosse to be in my book.

"I have another secret to tell you, too, but that will have to wait until I see you.

"Now, listen kids. I am going to arrive in La Crosse Saturday, December 2. I will come in at the Burlington depot between 1 and 1:30 p. m. and I want every kid from nothing to ninety to be there. I've got something in my big pack for everybody. (Signed)

"SANTA CLAUS."

DEPERE WOMAN FALLS DEAD

DEPERE, Wis.—The funeral of Mrs. Theodore Ambrosius of this city, who died Tuesday, will be held here Friday night. Mrs. Ambrosius was chatting with several members of her family and apparently in good health when she fell over dead. She had been shopping in preparation for the wedding of her son Louis, which was to take place Monday. The deceased is survived by eleven children.

COUNTRY BANK STOCK TAX CUT HELD LIKELY

Assessment Committee of County Board Probably Will Recommend Reduction Thursday Afternoon

LA CROSSE CITY BANKS ARE ASSESSED AT 75%, BOOK VALUE

Two-day Discussion also Made on Two Reports of Assessment Committee

After an afternoon and morning discussion of the question of assessing stock in La Crosse city and county banks the entire question was referred to the assessment committee of the county board for an amended report, which it was believed by supervisors, would be a solution of the question that has been agitating the supervisors for two days.

Majority report of assessment committee, introduced at Wednesday afternoon's session of the county board, favored the levy of 75 per cent of the book value of La Crosse city bank stock, made by the city board of review. The minority report of the same committee favored the adoption of the report of J. E. Keizer, assessor of incomes, in which bank stock of every bank in La Crosse county was assessed at 100 per cent of its book value.

Davis Suggests Solution

Chairman Davis suggested the way out for the board a few minutes before the noon adjournment.

"Gentlemen, there is no sense or reason for all this quibbling and arguing," said Mr. Davis. "Nobody is getting anywhere with all this talk. May I suggest a way out of the difficulty? Just cut 25 per cent from the true value of all the bank stock in the county. That will equalize all of the taxes, won't it? The country banks won't pay any more, in proportion, than the city banks, will they?"

Supervisor Kindley then asked to have the majority and minority reports referred back to the committee in an effort to reach an agreement so that a report could be made at the afternoon session. The reports were referred back to the committee.

The point of the argument was this: If the report of Mr. Keizer was adopted by the board, a deficit of about $1,325 would be put up to the city. If the majority report of the assessment committee were adopted the deficit would be put up to the county, outside of the city, to meet.

Burton Explains Situation

George W. Burton, president of the National Bank of La Crosse, appeared before the board Thursday morning to explain the acts of congress and United States supreme court decisions on the question of national banks paying taxes on bank stock.

"The banks have no desire to escape paying taxes," he said. "Banks generally are taxed higher than any other property. But congress and the supreme court have said that national bank stock is not taxable. In Milwaukee, for instance, the banks are willing to pay taxes on an income tax basis. In Kenosha, I was told at a national bank that they hadn't paid any taxes this year and had started suit to recover taxes paid the previous year. Any stockholder of a national bank could enjoin the directors from paying taxes on bank stock and if any had been paid to force the directors to make a refund."

The Milwaukee Plan

Mr. Burton read a letter he had just received from Burt Williams of Milwaukee, a tax expert, in which Mr. Williams said that Milwaukee banks had agreed to pay taxes on an income tax basis and that banks that have paid on a basis of $40,000 would now pay only $5,000 to $7,000 and that banks that had paid $5,000 would be paying about a fifth of that amount. Mr. Burton said that if La Crosse banks paid on the same basis as Milwaukee banks they would pay much less than they have been paying.

"Do you think it is fair to tax county banks 100 per cent and city banks 75 per cent?" asked Supervisor Nuttleman.

"Why not tax them all 75 per cent," returned Mr. Burton.

"We haven't any power to do that," said Mr. Nuttleman.

Majority Report Starts Fight

The battle in the county board over the assessment of bank stock started at the opening of the Wednesday afternoon session. A majority report

TAKING WET CASES INTO THE FEDERAL COURT THIS WEEK

Ole Karstad First Saloonkeeper to be Arraigned in Series of Cases

TO WAIVE EXAMINATION AND GIVE BOND HE SAYS

Federal Agents Abandon Arraignments in County Court

FEDERAL prohibition agents working in this section have abandoned temporarily the practice, in vogue for several months, of arraigning violators of the Volstead act caught by them in county court, and instead are haling the defendants into United States court.

Ole Karstad, proprietor of a soft drink saloon near Fourth and Badger streets, was the first man arraigned before United States Commissioner Alfred Harrison as a result of activities of federal dry agents here extending over a period of several days. When arraigned this morning on a charge of possession Karstad indicated that he would waive examination and give bond for his appearance in United States court when his case is called.

It is expected that several other cases will be brought before Commissioner Harrison this afternoon.

DON'T DOUBLE UP CHARITY ON HOLIDAY IS THREE-S WARNING

DISCOVERING several instances in which more than one organization or individual had arranged to provide a Thanksgiving Day dinner for the same family in the city, the Social Service Society on Thursday appealed to charitable folk in the city first to call its offices, No. 891, before planning their holiday giving.

"No family can eat two Thanksgiving dinners," said Mrs. Susy Bruce, secretary, "and we know of a number of families that will perhaps need one worse than some who will get two unless the givers check up."

The society will be glad to furnish names of deserving families to people who wish to remember them on Thanksgiving Day.

STRANGER ROBBED OF ROLL IN DEN ON THIRD STREET

John McDonald Has $231 Stolen While "Sitting" in Game Early Last Tuesday

"HAPPY" SKAAR HELD IN CONNECTION WITH AFFAIR

Victim of Theft Driven Around in Taxi for Half Hour

THAT John McDonald, aged 71, stranger in this city, was robbed of around $231 in bills while "sitting" in a card game in the basement of the Stefferud saloon at 226 South Third street early last Tuesday morning was the revelation at Central police station Thursday morning.

Helmar Skaar, better known as "Happy," is being held at police headquarters following his arrest Wednesday in connection with the affair. Skaar was to be arraigned in court Thursday afternoon. He was identified by McDonald as the man who took his money, it is alleged by the police.

McDonald's story to the police was that he was sitting in a card game in which Skaar was playing. He claimed he was holding $91 in his hand when Skaar reached over and forced the roll from his hand. Later, McDonald said, he was ushered out of the basement into the alley, claiming that in the meantime $140 was stolen from his person.

The victim of the theft, a stranger in the city, claims that he was driven around through the downtown section for nearly a half hour and finally left at the Western hotel, located a block distant from the basement in which they had been playing cards. This statement was verified through an investigation with the taxi driver.

Skaar admitted to the police after his arrest that he "sat" in a game with McDonald. When brought out for an inspection, Skaar was identified by McDonald as the party who had taken his money, police said.

Asked what would be done in the case of the gambling house, Chief Webber declined any statement today. He said the place had been located by officers Wednesday.

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis.—Lorraine Frederickson, age, 4, was accidentally shot and killed Tuesday by her brother, Albert, 8, while they were playing with a shotgun. This makes the fourth fatal accidental shooting here in the past ten days.

ALABAMA MINE BLAST CAUSED BY BROKEN WIRE

Runaway Cars Crash Into Mine Entry and Dust is Ignited Following Breaking of Electric Circuit

FIRE HINDERS RESCUE WORK FOLLOWING THE EXPLOSION

Force of Concussion Rocks the Earth for Miles Around

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Eighty-four lives were lost and sixty persons were injured as a result of an accident and explosion Wednesday in Dolomito Number 3 coal mine of the Woodward Iron company, according to a statement issued at noon Thursday by Frank H. Crockard, president of the company. Of the injured thirty-five were removed to their homes and twenty-five were in hospitals. Work of identification at that hour had not been completed, but it was believed that there were thirty-eight white dead and twenty white injured.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Work of removing the dead from Dolomite mine No. 3, of the Woodward Iron company, in which 475 men were trapped by an explosion Wednesday afternoon, was renewed with vigor by rescue crews, aided by undertakers' assistants, Thursday after daylight. Company officials estimated that the list of dead might be increased from the present total of eighty-three. Checking of injured indicated that the list of sixty was approximately correct. Of the dead 35 were white men; of the injured eighty per cent are negroes, according to company officials.

Company officials announced at 10 o'clock that all bodies had been removed from the pit and at that hour a check was being made to determine the exact list of fatalities.

Broken Circuit Ignites Dust

At least fifty men who are listed in the casualties were either killed or injured when a train of trip cars running wild from the tipple crashed into the mine yard in the main entry. This accident caused the snapping of an electric cable which in turn set off the dust which resulted in the explosion. The concussion rocked the earth for miles around and occurred so nearly simultaneously with the accident which produced it, that the victims were not aware what was happening.

At dawn, weary watchers about the pit appeared to renew hope that missing loved ones might be found despite announcement that all the live persons had been removed. White and black huddled in the biting cold about the pit. Joy occasionally rewarded women and children by workers turning up from out the night, following their escape from two other exits. The other exits were miles from the main entry and this caused families to be separated from those rescued for several hours in some instances.

Fire Hinders Rescue

Fire which followed the explosion hindered the work of rescue, and was believed to have been responsible for many deaths. The injured among the first men rescued were removed to Bessemer hospitals.

The American Red Cross sent a corps of nurses and assistants. Ambulance companies, with lung motors, joined the crews, whose operations were directed by Ed Flynn, head of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company's safety department, and Frank H. Crockard, president of the Woodward company.

According to mine officials, a broken electric circuit caused by the runaway of a train of trip cars was responsible for ignition of the dust.

Troops Aid Rescue Work

A detail of Alabama national guard on duty in the railroad strike area in Birmingham was ordered to the mine. Military headquarters announced that an additional force of twenty-five was also dispatched to aid in the general rescue work and for guard duty.

Assistant Superintendent T. W. Trew and four other men were injured when they were trapped in the "top house" following the explosion, while endeavoring to sound the alarm in the pit when they discovered the trip train "running wild."

Dolomite is nine miles southwest of Birmingham.

In Mine for Hours

The accident and blast came almost simultaneously, like two flashes of lightning, entrapping 477 men. Weary hours had passed before 333 of these workers had escap-

CLEMENCEAU BLAMES UNITED STATES FOR UNREST IN EUROPE

French Tiger Declares America Left France in the Lurch After the War

WAR PREMIER CRITICIZED BY NEWSPAPERS FOR UTTERANCES

Leaves for Boston Where He is Scheduled for Another Address

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—Georges Clemenceau Wednesday laid at the door of the United States blame for all the unrest in which Europe now seethes.

Speaking before his second New York audience—an audience of business men—at the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, the aged French war premier declared that America had left France "in the lurch" after the war.

"It was a great mistake to leave without any proposal for an adjustment of matters," he declared. "It was the greatest mistake, and the source of all the evil that is taking place now."

"People ask me 'what do you want us to do?'" he continued. "I answer: 'I don't know what I want you to do. I want you to interfere in Europe because you left it too soon. I want you to come back, make a little new trip to Europe, saying: "Well now, gentlemen, what's the matter with you—something gone wrong? I will give you some help. Can I be of use?"'"

The chamber speech was but one of the high spots in the most stirring day Clemenceau has had since he arrived here last Saturday for a tour, the aim of which was to be the winning of America to a closer relationship with France.

Guarded by a double force of motorcycle police, because some one signing himself "World War Veteran" had sent a threatening letter, the Tiger rode to the chamber building in the downtown financial district, through a big, cheering crowd.

From the chamber he drove to Brooklyn, where Borough President Riegelmann had proclaimed a half holiday, to review the 106th infantry regiment. Crossing Manhattan bridge, the Tiger's car plunged at once into a lane of wildly cheering school children waving French or American flags.

Reviews 106th Regiment

The 106th armory, which seats about 10,000, was packed and the Tiger was given a long ovation as he walked slowly in review before the massed troops.

After he had placed a wreath on the tablet commemorating the regiment's dead, Clemenceau faced the uniformed men and addressed them "as a man of action to men of action."

Praising their work in France, the Tiger declared:

"All that remains for you now is to be as great in peace as you were in war. I will remain until my last breath a great admirer of the United States. And I will always remember that behind the citizens there are always the soldiers—magnificent soldiers."

Clemenceau Is Criticized

The Tiger had evidence that his tour was not to be wholly over a path of roses. The threatening letter, sharp criticisms from Senator Borah and others in official Washington and adverse newspaper comment on his revival of the French plea for a triple alliance, seemed, however, merely to stir the 81 year old statesman to greater animation.

No specific comment on the criticism was obtainable from him, but he defended himself against them in the opening of his chamber of commerce address.

"Men have been too much criticized and may be overpraised, too," he said. "I think that is my case. Very often they ascribe to me too much ill, and sometimes too much good. I don't believe I have created a great deal of ill—certainly not to linger. A great deal of good, I dare not say."

Will Defend Frontier

Immediately after he had charged America with leaving France "in the lurch" he set the hall reverberating with applause when, with a great flashing of eyes, he declared, "We have to defend our frontier, and we will defend it."

Clemenceau Wednesday morning prepared to leave for Boston, where Friday, he is to deliver the second set address of his American itinerary. He felt that his purpose in coming to America—the winning of America to closer relationship with France, already was being accomplished. He felt encouraged by the reception accorded him in his New York addresses.

He was up early, as usual, and soon had his staff about him getting things ship-shape for the journey to Boston in the private railroad car of Charles M. Schwab.

WISCONSIN ANSWERS CALL OF RED CROSS FOR GREEK RELIEF

With Memory of St. Croix Tornado Still in Mind, State Answers Call

Wisconsin is answering in splendid shape the American Red Cross call for rescue for the refugees now pouring into Greece and enduring untold sufferings and misery.

Wisconsin, with the St. Croix tornado still fresh in mind, and with grateful memory of the Red Cross aid that came swiftly to the aid of the sufferers, rejoices that the American Red Cross is sending immediately relief to the earthquake sufferers in Chile.

Following the offer of help from President Harding to the president of Chile, the American Red Cross has cabled $10,000 for immediate relief of the earthquake victims, and is in communication with its chapters at Santiago and Chuquicemate regarding the situation.

Walter Davison, central division manager, Chicago, states that the relief of millions of sufferers driven from Asia Minor into Greece is actively progressing in the Mediterranean area under Vice Chairman Hill, who directs the relief work from Athens. Nearly $1,000,000 has been sent to relieve the suffering and chapters in the central division, which includes Wisconsin, are sending clothing and other necessary supplies.

The Red Cross is called upon to give relief in disaster more than once a week, on an average. Four middlewest states, Wisconsin, Montana, South Dakota and Illinois have called for Red Cross relief this year. Throughout the country the Red Cross this year spent $1,441,468 for relief in 72 disasters in which 674 persons were killed, 521 injured, and $30,000,000 property damage caused.

This year has seen the further perfection of disaster relief administration in every field. In chapters throughout the country equipment with trained relief workers to cope with local disasters is always ready and the system of communication makes it possible to consolidate relief measures immediately for use in great emergencies that may occur anywhere.

To perpetuate community insurance against calamity is one of the purposes of the Red Cross annual roll call now in progress, and millions of the American people are demonstrating their serious interest by renewing their memberships.

Though the returns from the annual roll call in La Crosse continue to come in very slowly, the final result is expected to compare favorably with the result achieved in previous drives. It is thought by Miss Mabel Young, executive secretary of the La Crosse chapter of the A. R. C., that the final reports of the canvassers will be made by the end of the week.

FIFTEEN ARE FINED FOR VIOLATIONS OF THE VOLSTEAD LAW

WINONA, Minn.—Fifteen defendants were fined, while the cases of ten persons charged with violation of the prohibition law were continued until the May term as a result of action at the November session of United States court in this city still in progress today.

Action on liquor cases was completed, as far as the present term of court is concerned, and Assistant U. S. District Attorney William Anderson, who represented the government in the prosecution, left on a noon train for Minneapolis.

Fines of $100 were imposed by Judge Wilbur F. Booth, in 14 cases where possession of liquor was charged. In one case, where the defendant was represented as unable to pay a large fine and had already spent three months in jail, the amount was fixed at $10.

All except a few of the defendants were either proprietors or bartenders in soft drink saloons. A number of the complaints alleged sale as well as possession of liquor, but in most cases, where possession was admitted, the count charging sale was not pressed.

Only one jail sentence was imposed a ten day term being assessed for sale of liquor in the cases of Jacob Kline, who has been in jail since his arrest Aug. 25.

Now combat that film on teeth

Have you noted how many people now have whiter, prettier teeth? You see them wherever you look. The reason lies in a new cleaning method which millions now employ. If you don't know it, you should try it now.

Film is dingy

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it now. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays. That film absorbs stains, then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film.

No ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat film. So, under old methods beautiful teeth were less often seen than today. And tooth troubles, mainly caused by film, became almost universal.

Film holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acids in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So nothing is more important to teeth than combating the film daily.

Two ways found

Dental science, after long research, found two film combatants. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods effective. Then dentists everywhere began to advise them. Now careful people of some fifty nations employ them, largely by dental advice.

A new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants were embodied in it.

Not film alone

But Pepsodent does more than fight film. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

It thus gives manifold effect to Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. The result, the world over, is a fast-coming new dental era.

No Cost
For a 10-Day Tube
Simply Mail Coupon

Tell your child

You want your children to endeavor to avoid the troubles that you suffered. Then tell them of Pepsodent, show them its effects. Dentists now urge that children use it from the time the first tooth appears.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

That test will be a revelation. It will convince you that you and yours need this new-day method. Cut out the coupon now.

Are you proud of your teeth?

—the right dentifrice will quickly make them gleam white and bright

Listerine Tooth Paste, made by the Lambert Pharmacal Company, makers of Listerine, contains just the right cleansing agent. It is hard enough to remove daily formation of tartar, yet not hard enough to scratch or injure the enamel. You take no chances with it.

Avoid dentifrices that attack the enamel

Guard the precious enamel of your teeth. Don't scratch it with a paste containing harsh abrasives. This enamel can never be replaced.

Also avoid soaps and other alkalies

Dental authorities now agree that the ideal dentifrice should contain no soaps or other alkaline ingredients. These work against Nature; they lessen the natural saliva flow and hasten tooth decay.

Mild fruit acids, on the other hand, such as Listerine Tooth Paste contains, aid Nature in preserving the teeth.

Clean your teeth thoroughly and pleasantly

Notice how delightfully fresh and clean your mouth feels after you use Listerine Tooth Paste. It's natural that it should feel so. Listerine Tooth Paste is made to work that way—to clean your teeth thoroughly and pleasantly, and help you keep your teeth and gums in their natural healthy condition.

Listerine Tooth Paste works naturally

Notice how your mouth waters when you use it. That is because the fruit acid elements in Listerine Tooth Paste—grape, orange, apple and grapefruit—stimulate the flow of saliva. Saliva is good for the teeth and gums. That's one of the purposes for which saliva is provided. Again notice the clean feeling. Your teeth will feel clean after you use Listerine Tooth Paste thoroughly, because they are clean.

It is antiseptic—like Listerine

Listerine Tooth Paste is doing the same thing that Listerine did. Listerine is a safe antiseptic for all to use. It brings into your home an effective weapon against infections. Just so, Listerine Tooth Paste, used conscientiously, makes it easy to give your teeth and gums the right kind of care. Do not neglect, however, to visit your dentist at least several times a year.

Note how quickly your teeth will improve

Get from your drug dealer a tube of Listerine Tooth Paste. The price is 25 cents.

Give it a thorough trial—three brushings a day is the best method. Then note how white and bright your teeth will gleam—how the condition of your gums will improve.

And know all the while that you are using a dentifrice that is perfectly safe—that cannot injure your teeth.

Listerine Tooth Paste
is safe and efficient
—because it contains the correct polishing agent; removes tartar safely; can't injure the enamel;
—because it contains mild fruit acids (instead of harmful soaps and alkalies) to stimulate the saliva that Nature intended to keep your teeth healthy;
—because it contains the healing antiseptic essential oils contained in Listerine.

Frank Bacon's Message

FRANK BACON is dead. His life, a sermon and an example, ended in a peaceful slumber, without pain, a fitting finish to a character that offered so much to the world of reality and gave it through the phantom world behind the footlights.

Other great actors have passed to the beyond. The world has paid them tribute for their art and for their influence on life through their art. It is seldom that through their very characterization of life itself, through the example set to a restless and impatient world, that we get a text from the greenroom.

But Frank Bacon left so much more than the impress of his acting. Few men in other lines have bequeathed more of an heritage of courage, determination, refusal to recognize a groove of mediocrity even though it last through the years until that time when the candle is burning low and the average man is beginning to live in retrospect.

Bacon was a failure, judged by the standards of our world of today—a failure for more than thirty weary years. Out of school at fourteen to work for a sheepman; a photographer's assistant; a try at advertising soliciting; newspaper work with the final purchase of a California weekly; from there into politics and failure of election; disappointment, bitterness; the stage. Nor did success come then. Seventeen long weary years in stock in the old Alcazar in 'Frisco. Hard study, hard performances.

But the creative genius was there. Thirty years ago Bacon began working on a play. It grew in his mind, it began to form on paper; but it was not the record-breaking "Lightnin'" of today.

Bacon made friends. Though his light never flamed for years above the Alcazar stock company, the ability was there. Golden and Winchell Smith discovered that there was a great character actor in 'Frisco. They tried to find a play for him.

Came the earthquake and Thespia passed for the time from the shores of the Golden Gate. Bacon came east. He played in such things as "The Fortune Hunter," "Stop Thief" and "The Miracle Man." He became known as one of the best and most conscientious character men on the American stage.

But Bacon was not satisfied. The years went along and Bacon did not gain above the standard of a good hard working actor. The only ray for him was that Golden and Smith saw possibilities and were looking for a play. Finally, he, himself, at a time when other men would have been thinking of the futures of their grandchildren—for he was a grandfather then—brought "Lightnin'" to Winchell Smith. It took two years for Smith to revise it.

Then, in his late fifties, Bacon came into his own. The fire of ambition that the years of near failure had never truly quenched since he left the sheep ranch, burst into flame.

Now Bacon is dead, called one of the greatest actors of the American stage. But that is a passing phase of his influence on the society of his time. He left an imprint that stands—the message proven that work and determination outbalance luck, and that it is never too late to start, never too late to make life closely true to our dreams of it.

Mussolini Changes Front

FOR the most part the Lausanne conference thus far has shown few differences from the run of such diplomatic gatherings. The two leading allies met in advance and agreed what they would offer Turkey, the meeting assembled in secret, and everything Turkey proposed was tossed in the waste-basket as the first preliminary to the actual business of negotiation.

Thus far according to precedent—but very much against expectations, was the disturbing attitude of Benito Mussolini, fascisti premier of Italy, in his unexpected declaration that Italy insisted upon the presence of Russia as a member of the conference on the straits. At this distance it appears to be almost inexplicable. Of course Russia is interested in something so closely related to the commerce of the Black Sea, and Mussoliui may have been moved merely by an altruistic desire to see every nation vitally affected have a voice in the proceedings. But that seems a bit out of character. Mussolini's party, the "black shirts," are or at least started out to be extreme conservatives, with anti-Bolshevism the first tenet of their principles. And in Mussolini's reported intention to embrace as his guiding principle in foreign affairs the metamorphosis of the Adriatic into an Italian lake there was no evidence of international altruism. That is pure imperialism, nationalistic selfishness, and so on. It takes no account of the vital interests of Greece, Albania, Jugo-Slavia and Austria in the Adriatic. Mussolini's friendliness to Russia is therefore contradictory to his previous political point of view on at least two counts.

Perhaps Signor Mussolini will clear up this apparent inconsistency as the conference develops. It may prove to be merely a way of asserting the new Italian government's independence of the allies, a sort of notice that Mussolini expects to be consulted in decisions hereafter along with Poincare and Bonar Law. It may be that a lively consciousness of impending Moslem troubles in Italy's African possessions is the basis of this eagerness to have Turkey's friend and putative ally at the council. Certainly there is some reason, large or small, valid or illusory. But so far it is just a puzzle.

Good Old Days

DO you get impatient when you have to wait in a railroad station for a train that is late? And keep watching the bulletin board to see if the bad news, after all, may not prove to be a mistake? Nothing worse than waiting for a delayed train—unless it's waiting in a dentist's office. An old-timer, reminiscing in the Wall Street Journal, tells of people who waited for trains 73 years ago in Chicago. There was no telegraph there in those days. So John B. Turner, president of the old Galena & Chicago Union Railroad, had an observatory built on top of Chicago's first depot in 1849. Turner had his office in the tower. Using a marine telescope, he watched through the window for incoming trains. The telescope enabled him to "spot" an approaching train as far as Austin, six miles away. Then Turner would shout the glad news downstairs and the impatient travelers would sigh with relief and marvel at the benefits conferred on humanity by that great scientific achievement, the telescope.

Today the location of approaching and departing passenger trains is known with precision, thanks to telegraph, telephone and radio. You can look at the depot bulletin board and know whether a train, not due for hours, is on time or late. Even better, you can telephone to the station, miles away. If the train is reported delayed, you wait in your comfortable home until time for the train, instead of in a dismal station. Great strides? The everyday commonplace services which we take as a matter of course in modern times would have been magical luxuries back in 1849.

Somehow, though, the telegraph and telephone and radio appeal to us less than the quaint picture of old man Turner in his tower, searching the railroad tracks with a small telescope. People were not in such a hurry, back yonder. They took life as it came. And maybe they were happier. The telegraph and telephone and radio had not been invented then, for they were not needed. As soon as the actual need arose, inventors provided them. In their way, they are marvels. But their major function seems to be to enable people to rush about faster, in a mad semi-stampede that seems to have neither goal nor meaning.

And sometimes we wonder if it wouldn't be a good thing for the world if it could undo a lot of its progress and slip back to the simpler "good old days." Maybe not. But old man Turner and his telescope certainly fire the imagination.

The Sevres Cup

By ROSE MEREDITH

Hampton sat down to his solitary breakfast with a heart filled with resentment at the way Fate had treated him. Up to this morning he had glorified in his bachelor freedom, he had explained airily to his married friends the carefree life of the unshackled male. He said that he arose when he liked, lunched when he liked and came home as late as he wished and no one cared. He was happy and contented.

He had said it all last night to Harry Baker, as Harry drove him home from a little family dinner party at the Baker home.

"Yes," muttered Mr. Baker reflectively as they whirred along under the stars, "I'll bet nobody cares a whoop whether you come home at night early or late, or whether you come home at all! No light in the window for you, old man, oh, no! Just a dim light in the hall, and paid servants awaiting your call. Just wait awhile, you'll get tired of it all!"

In spite of his warm protests to the contrary, Philip Hampton had arisen this morning with a sense of something denied him. He thought of the warm welcome that awaited Harry Baker, remembered the light in Edith Baker's eyes when she met her husband and his guest at the station, remembered the little group of youngsters who came tumbling from the house to greet them, little warm, clean boys and girls.

The dining room looked very cheerful. There was a touch of frost outside and a little fire crackled on the hearth. There was old mahogany, blue china and brass on the white mantelpiece, a glitter of glass and silver from the sideboard, a bowl of chrysanthemums in the center of the table. All the chairs were vacant except his own armchair, drawn up to the table, where Betsy had placed a delectable breakfast. He had eaten his fruit and cereal, and now he removed the cover from the silver dish before him, revealing delicate strips of bacon—Betsy brought in a plate of waffles and departed.

Philip scowled at the empty chairs and attacked the bacon savagely. He finished his coffee and stared moodily into his empty cup. It was a large cup of Sevres—his cousin Agatha had selected that set of breakfast china when he announced his intention of buying a place in the suburbs and setting up his lonely home therein. He had only been there two weeks and he was bored to death. He was as lonely as he could be! He would return to town—live at his club or a hotel, where one would not miss family life.

Voices sounded from the place next door. There was a boy in there, about ten years old. Philip had a speaking acquaintance with the family. He was used to the boy's voice, but now there was a girl's clear tones, and then a man's deep voice calling them in to breakfast. He could imagine that other breakfast table, happy and full of talk.

Betsy came in and at his request opened the window. When he was alone again he still listened for the voices.

"Rose—Rose, catch it! Ow!" in a mournful bevish howl. CRASH!

Straight through the open window the ball flew, skimmed across the bowl of chrysanthemums and found a refuge in the big Sevres coffee cup at Philip's elbow. The cup rocked uncertainly, and then with a quiet tinkle of splintered shards the cup fell apart on the saucer and the brand-new baseball rested on the debris.

Hampton was angry. He jumped up and went to the window. He would speak sharply to the boy and impress him with the fact that a suburban lawn was no place in which to play baseball.

He leaned from the window and confronted two startled faces.

The boy, Jimmy, was staring up from the other side of the hedge, his round, freckled face pale with fright. Beside him was an angel in a pale blue frock.

"Gee, I'm sorry, Mr. Hampton," chattered the boy.

"I am afraid it is my fault, Mr. Hampton," said the angel in just the sweet, low voice he admired in women. "Jimmy told me to catch the ball, and I didn't. I hope it did not harm anything."

"Nothing at all," lied Philip handsomely. "Just dropped into my empty coffee cup. Play ball, Jimmy," he called, and pitched the ball out to the relieved small boy.

"Now, Rose, don't you go and take all the blame—she always does that, Mr. Hampton, she's my cousin, you know—I fired the ball too high—no girl could catch that!"

They laughed together over that, and Hampton stepped out of the window and down to the lawn so that he might talk to them more easily. Rose Ashe was telling him about a long motor trip they had taken the preceding day, when Betsy appeared at the window. She did not see Miss Ashe, but at the sound of her voice Philip turned.

"Oh, Mister Hampton, somepin done broke your pin chaney cup all to splinters. I derlar to man I never teched it—looka here, sah!" She reached out a black arm and displayed the Sevres saucer with its burden of shattered cup.

"Never mind, Betsy—throw it away. It was an accident," he said, turning red under the clear-eyed gaze of the two cousins.

"You were saying that you stopped at Far Falls?" he reminded her.

"I am so sorry about the cup," she answered.

"It is nothing—please do not distress yourself," he was beginning, when Jimmy darted toward his home and reappeared dragging his father.

"Come in and breakfast with us," he said cordially, after explanations had been made. "We are late this morning—had a long ride yesterday and everybody laid abed. I think my wife is coming now."

Philip thought of the hearty breakfast he had eaten, but he decided not to count it as a meal—it was too lonely, besides——

"With pleasure," he accepted. "I will be with you in a moment." He darted into the house and discovered the fragments of the cup on the table. He wrapped them in a table napkin and locked them in his desk in the next room. Then he joined the Ashe family and went in to form one of that happy, talkative group about the breakfast table.

It was just as he had imagined. He grew younger by leaps and bounds. Instead of being thirty-four years old, he felt just about Jimmy's age when he parted company with his new friends.

"You don't want to sell your place, Hampton?" asked Mr. Ashe suddenly. "I know a man who is anxious to come down here."

"No indeed—I'm going to settle down here for good," said Philip, "providing Jimmy promises not to break all my cups."

"Aw, gee, Mr. Hampton," grinned Jimmy.

Before Mr. Hampton departed for business he surveyed his appearance in his mirror. "I need some new clothes," he decided gravely, "and some ties and a lot of things. This scarf I have on is all wrong—I suppose she noticed it—girls always do——" He fell dreaming over girls in general and one in particular. His train whistled in the distance and departed without him.

"It will be convenient for her to be so near her cousins," he burst out suddenly, then he laughed aloud, and picking up his hat went whistling out of the house.

"Mister Hampton done been most cheerful after dat cup was broke," vouchsafed Betsy in the kitchen.

"Oh, gwan—tain't cups that's worryin' him—it's jest girls."

URGES EXTENSION OF HEALTH COURSE AT NORMAL SCHOOL

Dr. Harrington Says that Teachers Should be Able to See Disease Symptoms

"It is more important that a teacher be able to take temperature and count pulse and to recognize the symptoms of contagious disease than that she be able to translate Cicero, or work out a problem in geometry," said Dr. T. L. Harrington of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association in a talk before normal school students Wednesday. Dr. Harrington urged the students that are to be the teachers of tomorrow to take a more active interest in health, and especially in the prevention of disease. Illustrating how the lack of knowledge or observation in regard to health of pupils may result in a whole room being exposed to the danger of infection, Dr. Harrington told of the case of a child, found to have tuberculosis at a clinic in another Wisconsin city.

"This little nine-year-old girl, who had been in school every day that week, came to the clinic with bright red fever spots on her cheeks, was coughing frequently and bearing every outward evidence of serious illness. The examination showed that one lung was completely riddled with tuberculosis from apex to base, and the other was infected half way down. Yet the teacher has not realized that this child should be at home, that she was coughing out billions of germs every day, and that she was a menace to the entire school," the doctor said.

While rapid strides have been made in the tuberculosis campaign, Dr. Harrington said that there are still some people who believe that a verdict of tuberculosis from a doctor is a death sentence. He urged the student to assist in the educational campaign to teach all that tuberculosis is curable, and preventable, and that the earlier the disease is discovered and treatment started, the easier is the cure.

In special talks to the physical education class at normal, Dr. Harrington made a plea for changing the term of this course to "Health Education," and of broadening the scope of the work.

PARIS.—The Chilean earthquakes, in the opinion of Abbe Moreux, the well-known French scientist and astronomer, are only the beginning of a series of disturbances that may be looked for during the coming year. Abbe Moreux predicts terrestial disturbances in the Antilles and in Mexico, Japan, and Turkestan.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat often too much red meat and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water beverage and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

LAND CLEARED UP ON LARGE SCALE IN POLK COUNTY

Total of 93,000 Pounds of Explosive Used; Quarter of County Now Under Cultivation

BALSAM LAKE, Wis.—A total of 93,000 pounds of explosives used this year has brought about land clearing in Polk county to the extent of having 25 percent of the entire land now under cultivation, John S. Klinka, county agriculture agent, says in his report for the year.

More than 800 farmers in the county have been given explosives for land clearing use. Of the total amount, 73,000 pounds was picric acid, sold at a cost of 11.2 cents per pound. Most of the land clearing was done in the northern and eastern sections of the county. The work required the handling of 103,500 caps and 115,000 feet of fuses.

Eleven short courses in agriculture were attended by 226 young men during the year. Three cow testing organizations were created. Twenty-one creameries of the county producing 4,983,500 pounds of butter annually, joined the cooperative movement to improve the markering, manufacture and standardizing of creamery products. This organization was the first group of its kind in Wisconsin.

The wool pool of the 1922 clip consisted of 10,000 pounds and netted the growers 34 cents, several cents above the market paid individual growers. Close to 8,000 farmers attended the 126 community meetings held throughout the county.

To Avoid Rough, Coarse, Chapped, Blotchy Skin

Most skins require constant grooming at this season to keep them from becoming unduly red, blotchy, coarse, rough or harsh, or if such condition has developed, to overcome it. In such cases it is particularly inadvisable to keep piling on cosmetics which clog the pores and make the complexion worse than ever.

It's a lot more sensible to use ordinary mercolized wax, which literally absorbs a spoiled complexion. Apply the wax, like cold cream, before retiring. Next morning, in washing it off, you'll wash away fine, flour-like particles of the unsightly cuticle. Repeat for a week or more and you'll have an entirely new skin—soft, white, spotless and beautiful as a child's. One ounce of mercolized wax, procurable at any druggist's, is all you'll need.

Some skins wrinkle easily in winter. There's an excellent remedy in a harmless wash lotion made by dissolving an ounce of pure powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. This will quickly eradicate all lines and furrows.

Miss Nilsson's Beauty Secrets

Anna Q. Nilsson, the wonderful motion picture actress, says that a beautiful rosy-white skin and complexion is the very best asset any girl or woman can have. She further states that the best and quickest way to obtain this is to use a simple toilet preparation, familiar to every well-known actress.

Anna Q. Nilsson

It is called derwillo and can be obtained at the toilet counter of any up-to-date drug or department store.

This wonderful derwillo is used by over one million discriminating girls and women throughout the country and is rapidly becoming the leader in its line. It takes the place of face powder, stays on better and its use cannot be detected. Perspiration does not affect it and it will not rub off on clothing.

Derwillo is especially recommended for dark, sallow, rough skin, tan, wrinkles and many other facial blemishes. It comes in three shades; flesh, white and brunette. There is nothing like it to beautify the hands and arms.

To get the best results cleanse the skin with a good cold cream. This puts life and elasticity into it. There is no better cleansing cream than Laska cold cream. After the skin is thus prepared then use derwillo the instant beautifier. Try it today. You are sure to be delighted. Sold under a money refund guarantee by all department stores and druggists including Hoeschler Bros.

MOTHER!

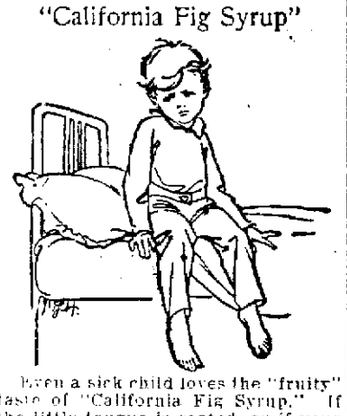
Open Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"



Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Cheating An Estate By Life Insurance

It is the desire of most men to create an estate which will provide future protection for their families.

One way of doing this is by means of life insurance. Insurance is taken out at once, or from time to time, until the total amount of the policies equals the amount of the estate it is desired to leave. Instead of leaving your family an estate composed of your life savings, which you may not consider adequate, by means of life insurance you may leave a very considerable sum.

You need not leave such an estate in an outright sum. You can protect it with all the safeguards with which you can surround any estate, by leaving it in a trust with this company.

By such a trust you can arrange for the payment of annual incomes to your beneficiaries for various periods, and can direct how the principal shall ultimately be distributed. You are enabled to provide for many contingencies.

Send for our leaflet, "Your Wife and Your Insurance." It is of interest to every man who has or will have life insurance.

"YE" OLDEN TIME DINNER FUNCTION ENJOYED BY EIGHTY

ONE OF THE MOST quaintly beautiful of dinner functions ever given in the city was the reproduction of an "old-time" dinner party which was given on Wednesday at half past one at the Stoddard hostelry by Miss Dorset and Miss Helen Dorset. Eight tables were laid and as far as possible they were embellished as in "grandmother's days," featuring the tones of yellow brought out in large baskets of flowers for the centering of all but one table which was centered by a basket of great crimson apples. Tapers, also of a golden hue, in crystal sticks, blinked their flickering "eyes" at the guests. A strictly Thanksgiving menu was served, including turkey and finishing with mince pie, as in "ye olden time." Places were laid for eighty guests.

At the close of the repast a very pretty surprise was in store for the guests, when Miss Mary Isabelle Garland, the charming daughter of Mr. Hamlin Garland, who entertained the public at the Normal auditorium Wednesday night, was introduced and gave in most clever fashion some readings from her father's works. She wore a gown of purple silk with a lace collar and her hair was done in the fashion of a century ago, presenting a dainty picture of old-time loveliness. Her costume was as far as possible a copy of her grandmother's upon the return of her grandfather from the war. She fairly captivated her audience with her gracious manner and interpretations.

During the dinner, which was served in the main dining room, Holcomb's orchestra played old-time airs.

G. Mandt performing the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Nuzell, maid of honor, and Mr. Edward Abel, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride wore a pretty gown of white flowered satin and carried a shower of pink roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of apricot organdie and she carried pink roses. A wedding dinner followed at which twenty-four relatives were entertained. The wedding cake featured the color scheme with candles and roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Abel left on a honeymoon trip to Chicago and other points and will reside at 1121 South Fourth street.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

EDWARD RECHLIN IN FINE CONCERT AT LOCAL CHURCH

Organist Appears at Our Savior's Lutheran Church on Wednesday Night

BY H. MARGARET JOSTEN

Such an evening of organ music as Richard Rechlin gave on Wednesday at Our Savior's Lutheran church was an unusual pleasure and privilege to music lovers. It also fulfilled successfully the purpose for which it was designed in indicating something of the noble greatness of the music available for the Lutheran service.

Mr. Rechlin is an organist of distinction. He has a great ideal, namely to spread throughout America the appreciation and understanding of Bach. Whether in the greater technical difficulties which mount to produce the splendour of the Toccata in F or in the simpler beauty of In Dulci Jubilo, he presented convincing argument for the works of the great master.

A regular part of Mr. Rechlin's program is an improvisation upon a Lutheran choral. In generous response to requests from the audience he concluded with two such improvisations on Abide with Me, and A Mighty Fortress is Our God.

One can hardly fancy a man better fitted for the idealistic work undertaken than is Mr. Rechlin. Skill, artistry and courage must be combined in the individual who will present the type of program he is offering. But there is a good deal of truth in the remark often heard that people enjoy music they know. If sufficient opportunity be given people to become thoroughly familiar with the best and greatest music they will prefer it.

To create a desire and a demand for the finest in church organ music, Mr. Rechlin is carrying on his admirable campaign. He deserves a recompense not only of that feeling of satisfaction which attends success with an individual audience but the ultimate consciousness of the greater success in the achievement of his purpose.

WOMAN LOSES CASE BROUGHT AGAINST A FEDERAL AGENT

WINONA, Minn.—Holding that a public officer of the United States is not liable for negligent acts of his subordinates, Judge Wilbur F. Booth in federal court dismissed the action brought by Mrs. Elizabeth Malewicki, 503 West Fourth street, against S. B. Qvale, federal prohibition director in Minnesota, to obtain $20,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained by her when federal agents raided the Malewicki home the night of May 10.

The case was dismissed on motion of Assistant U. S. District Attorney William Anderson, counsel for Mr. Qvale, after the court had taken under advisement arguments by opposing attorneys made late Wednesday.

Judge James J. Fitzpatrick of Winona and R. S. Cowie of La Crosse, counsel for Mrs. Malewicki, announced that the case would be appealed to a higher court.

How Stuart's Calcium Wafers Work Out to the Skin and Clear it of Pimples, Blackheads, Boils, Muddiness and Such Blemishes

The manner in which Stuart's Calcium Wafers influence a beautiful complexion is one of nature's marvels. Their first action is to remove the sour fermentations that are apt to poison the blood and thus disfigure the skin. Then the calcium itself is a natural agency to skin health and is appropriated by the tissues for its own particular use in repair work. These effects are visibly noticeable to those troubled with a pimply skin, or one that is muddy or red or blotchy, scaly and rough and coarse. The Calcium Wafers induce a reaction to healthier tendencies and soon the pinkish complexion begins to assert itself, the blemishes fade away, the dimples seem animated and the entire appearance is one of vivacious beauty instead of unsightliness.

NO SUCCESSORS TO HOWELLS, BURROUGHS SAYS MR. GARLAND

Distinguished Native of La Crosse Reminisces About American Authors

PRESENT POET-NATURALIST AS TYPICAL AMERICAN ARTIST

Daughter's Readings of Poems Ends Normal Lecture

HAMLIN Garland, native son of La Crosse county and its most distinguished, if not indeed its only literary figure of prominence, lectured at the Normal school on Wednesday evening to a crowded and most appreciative audience upon his contacts with American men of letters.

Included in his reminiscences were such outstanding figures as William Dean Howells, John Burroughs, Mark Twain, Bret Harte and James Whitcomb Riley. Rudyard Kipling was glanced at and there was a sympathetic and illuminating discussion of Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras. The end of the evening was the reading of several poems illustrating the best work of Howells, Burroughs, Miller and Harte, with a short poem of Mr. Garland's, presented by the author's daughter. Miss Garland was a prepossessing figure, with a dramatic voice and splendid feeling for the poems which she read.

Tells of Early Life Here

Mr. Garland, who was introduced by Prof. D. O. Coate, began easily and pleasantly by saying that he had not been in La Crosse for seven years "but I hope it will not be seven years again to my next visit," he said. "Of course when one reaches 62 his movements become somewhat uncertain." He told of his visit on his last trip to the school house where he first embarked upon the study of life and literature, the old Roach house, now gone, in Green's Coulee. Thereafter, he said, his apprenticeship of literature was conducted mainly by studying the wise sayings sandwiched between weather predictions in the yearly almanac until as a young man he was inspired by a visitor to leave his claim in McPherson county, North Dakota, and go to Boston to study. Thus, Mr. Garland introduced his first and evidently his most-prized friendship among American authors, for while a student in Boston he wrote a review of a new book by William Dean Howells and was given an introduction by the editor of the Transcript to the famous author. It was the beginning of a friendship which lasted the lifetime of Howells, and Mr. Garland made plain the great respect and affection he entertained for the late dean of American letters.

The incidents he told of his friends of genius were illuminating and sympathetic, many of them humorous, particularly about James Whitcomb Riley. With such material he wove a picture of the last generation of American literature which he contrasted most favorably by implication with those who have followed them.

True Lights of American Letters

"They were of the great in American literature, and their period ended in 1914." He paid tribute to the mellow kindliness, sincerity and sympathetic appreciation of things American with which men like Riley, Howells and Burroughs wrote, and contrasted them although he did not labor the point and expressed no condemnation with contemporary authors who find only material for criticism and complaint in the United States.

John Burroughs, the poet-naturalist, he held forth as a typical example of the best in American letters, pointing out that he had been born on a farm in New York state, and scarcely ever had left it during his life, finding all the material for his twenty-five books in his homely, familiar surroundings, and finally returning to the soil from which he had sprung after 83 years of artistic endeavor. "Such men," he said, "realized that America is a grown-up nation, with nothing to be ashamed of in its art and letters, and with no need to brag and assert itself."

The lecture was followed by an informal reception for Mr. Garland and his daughter given by the faculty of the normal school.

NEW CHANCELLOR IN GERMANY TAKES OVER GOVERNMENT REINS

Announcement of "Cabinet of Work" to be Made Before Reichstag on Friday

BERLIN—By the Associated Press.—Wilhelm Cuno, who has assumed a chancellor's responsibility in the government of Germany, Thursday was putting the finishing touches on the organization of his "cabinet of work" with which he plans to go before the reichstag on Friday.

Herr Cuno anticipated a conference with Herr von Rosenberg, to whom he offered the foreign portfolio but who has not yet accepted. Herr von Rosenberg's presence in Berlin was generally expected Thursday, however, inasmuch as he was reported Wednesday as enroute to this city from Copenhagen.

It is believed that the new government bases its program on the Wirth ministry's November note to the reparations commission which suggested a loan of 1,000,000,000 marks, half of which would be supplied by the reichsbank, as a means of rehabilitating the German mark. The note also requested a moratorium for three or four years.

BODY OF HUNTER FOUND AFTER A 3 DAYS SEARCH

IRON RIVER, Mich. — Another death has been added to the already large toll of those met through hunting accidents during the present deer hunting season. The body of Oscar Alfredson, of Iron River, was found Wednesday by a searching party of twenty men after scouring the woods near here for three days. The circumstances leading up to Alfredson's death were told by his companion, Frank Isaacson, a trapper.

According to Isaacson, Alfredson and he had gone hunting Sunday morning when the former had shot at a deer, following it into the thickest of the woods, thinking he had wounded the animal. Alarmed at Alfredson's absence from the camp, Isaacson organized a band of twenty men who searched the woods for three days.

Otto Kraeger, a member of the searching party, came upon the body lying alongside of a tree which was circled by a newly made path, which indicated that Alfredson, being insane from his aimless wandering, had circled the tree time and time again, finally lying down and freezing to death.

LUMBERJACK LOST IN WOODS SUFFERS FROM EXPOSURE

IRONWOOD, Mich.—Swan Linder, 23, lumberjack, is in a serious condition in a local hospital suffering from exposure while lost in the woods near here. Linder and two other men went to the woods Sunday in search of a companion who they believed lost. The lumberjack became separated from his friends and was unable to find his way back to town. After being lost for three days, a hunting party found Linder.

JUDGE DISMISSES CHARGES AGAINST WALTER HOOVER

Evidence Not Sufficient to Hold Him for Death of Man Killed by His Automobile

MADISON, Wis.—The charge of fourth degree manslaughter made against Walter Hoover of Duluth, world's champion sculler, was dismissed by Judge A. O. Stolen in the Dane county superior court here Thursday. Judge Stolen held that there was insufficient evidence to warrant trial of Hoover, who participated in an automobile accident here October 26, resulting in the death of Herbert Seeley, Oregon, Wis., farmer.

The dismissal of the action came during a preliminary hearing on the man-slaughter charge to establish grounds for a trial. Witnesses had testified that neither of the automobiles involved in the accident was driven at an excessive rate of speed at the time of the crash, which resulted in the overturning of the car in which Seeley was riding, and caused the injury which resulted in his death.

COUNTRY BANK STOCK TAX CUT HELD LIKELY

of the assessment committee, signed by Supervisors Kindley, Schubert, Baum and Yerly was introduced. This was the actual starting point of the fireworks. The report follows:

"Your committee on assessments after a brief personal investigation of real and personal property assessment and values in the various districts of the county. After a careful consideration of Supervisor of Incomes J. E. Keizer's report do hereby recommend that the same be adopted as the true basis of values of real and personal property in La Crosse county, when amended as follows:

"First—By striking the figure $1,804,924 under the head of bank stock, table 4, city of La Crosse, substituting the sum of $1,433,205 being a deduction of $371,719 and making the total of bank stock as amended $1,691,543.

"Second—By striking the figure $11,690,042 under the head of aggregate true value of personal property, table 6, city of La Crosse, substituting therefor the sum of $11,318,323 and making the total of all personal property in the county $16,655,029.

"Third—By striking the figure $40,616,242 under the head of total real and personal property, table 7, city of La Crosse, substituting the sum of $40,244,523 and making the total of real and personal property in the county $67,281,781 and when so amended and changed the totals of real and personal property for the several districts of La Crosse county are:

Mr. Keizer's Report

The minority report of the assessment committee was signed by Supervisors Nuttleman, Storandt and Wolter. It urged the adoption of Income Assessor Keizer's report as it was submitted to the county board, especially that part relating to bank stock. Mr. Keizer's report says:

"You will notice in my report, table 4, that the assessment of bank stock in the city of La Crosse is 75 per cent of the true value as carried out. Representatives from the several banks in the city appeared before the board of review calling their attention to a supreme court decision in regard to the assessment of federal banks and objecting to a book value assessment, maintaining that the banks had been assessed too high in the past as compared with other property and with the assessment on bank stock in other localities in the state. The board of review after giving the matter due consideration finally compromised with the banks on an assessment at 75 per cent of book value. For your consideration. I am including in my report copies of letters written to O. J. Swennes, city attorney."

The Much-Discussed Figures

Here is that part of table 4, in Mr. Keizer's report, that was the crux of the situation, so far as hard, cold figures are concerned:

| Assessment Districts | BANK STOCK Aggregate Value Assessment | True value |
|---|---|---|
| Bangor | | |
| Barre | | |
| Burns | | |
| Campbell | | |
| Farmington | 16,680 | 16,680 |

| Total for Towns | $ 66,411 | $ 66,411 |
| Bangor, Village | $ 16,035 | $ 16,035 |
| La Crosse, City | 1,353,693 | 1,804,924 |
| Onalaska, City | 20,000 | 20,000 |
| Rockland, Village | 15,000 | 20,898 |
| West Salem, Vil. | 105,000 | 105,000 |
| Totals for Cities and Villages | $1,539,728 | $1,996,857 |
| Total for County | $1,606,139 | $2,063,268 |

Keizer Explains Stand

"The board of review of the county of La Crosse had no right to make a compromise with the banks for an assessment of 75 per cent of the book value of their stock," said Mr. Keizer, when he appeared before the board Wednesday afternoon. "If that ruling is allowed to stand, the country banks will be forced to make up the deficit.

"If we did what various businesses requested us to do we wouldn't collect any taxes at all. Business men tell me that it is business that builds up a community and that business, therefore should not be taxed. Manufacturers and breeders of pure-blooded stock also tell me that they are community builders and should be exempt from taxes.

"I believe the banks should be assessed to the full book palue. They are the best money-making concerns in the county. They take your money and pay two and three per cent interest and when you try to make a loan they charge you seven per cent interest."

Bank Stock Valuable

"Book values do not reach the sale value of bank stock. Bank stock is hard to get on the market. It is very valuable now."

"Any fair-minded man will see the justice of Mr. Keizer's report," said Adolph Nuttleman, leader of the minority in the assessment committee. "There is absolutely no reason why the national banks should not pay the same as the stage banks. Are we going to establish another Wall street in La Crosse to tell us what to do? Whether we do or not, we ought to have justice in making assessments."

"Other corporations are making more money than the banks" asserted Supervisor Yerly. The Tax commission tells Mr. Keizer to assess national banks 100 per cent, they say so in their own letters. I think 75 per cent fixes the true value of bank stock for assessment."

"Two years ago when Mr Kindley and Mr. Yerly called on me regarding bank assessments," said Mr. Keizer, "I told them I was using a four-year basis. In order to make sure of my stand I called up the tax commission and was told to take a five-year basis. I left it on the four-year basis, however, as it was to the advantage of the banks. Would you have the Bank of Holmen, for instance, which is assessed at $49,000, pay for something that was done here in La Crosse."

Not Liable For Taxes

"The national banks are not liable to any taxes," said Mr. Kindley, "and the La Crosse State bank assessments were increased to equalize them with banks in the county."

"These banks boast of their wealth," thundered Orrin Fletcher, "and say they won't pay their taxes. Let's call their bluff. I would strike them from the assessment rolls rather than compromise on a 25 per cent reduction. I am in favor of having the law applied. Let's go to the mat on this thing and have it out now."

"There is no reason whatever for the La Crosse city board of review taking the stand they did," asserted Val Keppel. "If the national banks go before the people with exemptions and take advantage of technicalities in the law, what will happen? They will get a double dose next time."

"The question at issue is, why put a deficit from the city of La Crosse on some other district," declared Chairman Davis. "All other talk about the question is beside the issue."

Up to Congress

"I think congress will adjust this matter," said Mr. Keizer. "I also think the board of review overstepped themselves. Mr. Wing of the Batavian bank has paid taxes for two years under protest. I think it about time the people arose and established a bank of their own when the national banks refuse to pay taxes. You can't compromise. If any injustice has been done it can be adjusted. The national banks should be assessed full value or not at all."

"We are not taking advantage of any one in this matter," said Mr. Kindley. "We just want this change made."

"Do the national banks pay any tax?" asked Supervisor Dawson. He was told they do not.

"Well, that situation won't last very long, I can tell you that," said Val Keppel.

"Looks to me as though the city made a mistake and we ought to swallow it," said Supervisor Staats.

"If the majority report of the assessment committee is adopted, a full book value assessment will be made next year," promised Mr. Kindley.

"I think it about time the law in this case was observed," remarked Mr. Olsen.

At this point in the discussion, a motion to adjourn was made and the assessment committee reports were put over until Thursday morning.

PARLIAMENT ASKED TO CONTINUE POLICY OF FORMER PREMIER

Declares for Lloyd George's Measures to Relieve Trade and Unemployment

LLOYD GEORGE ELECTED TO HEAD NATIONAL LIBERALS

McDonald, Chairman of Labor Party, Leads Opposition

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—The new parliament will be asked to continue and extend the ameliorative measures prepared by the Lloyd George ministry as regards trade and employment and also to guarantee a loan for the restoration of Austria, said King George Thursday in his speech from the throne officially opening the session.

The king expressed the hope that the Lausanne conference might result "in the establishment of peace and the restoration of security to inhabitants of regions which have recently been the scene of so much suffering.

The utterance of the king which attracted most attention was that forecasting the extension of ameliorative measures for trade and employment.

Prosperity and tranquility must be founded on improved trade and decreasing unemployment? Premier Bonar Law said often during the campaign.

While the king was speaking thousands of unemployed were continuing their meetings of yesterday in London, asking relief from present conditions.

Lloyd George Heads Liberals

Former Premier Lloyd George was unanimously elected leader of the national liberals at the party meeting Wednesday.

J. Ramsay MacDonald, laborite, assumed his new position as leader of the opposition in the house of commons Thursday afternoon and in the debate on the speech from the throne declared that the statement in the king's address regarding unemployment was profoundly unsatisfactory to labor. He said it showed that the government had no real appreciation of a terrible tragedy.

Mr. MacDonald said the labor party had no interest in the ameliorative measures of the late government, mentioned in the king's speech but in the blunders of that government which had created the conditions from which the country was now suffering. He called attention to the fact that there were 1,300,000 unemployed.

Mr. MacDonald pledged the assistance of labor in passing the Irish bill, ratifying the treaty and legalizing the Free State.

Referring to the Lausanne peace conference, which he said, was of the utmost importance, the opposition leader declared that labor was not out for a mere tinkering and patching peace. Labor realized that behind the scenes at Lausanne was the hidden hand of the oil interests, busy and powerful. Those interests were represented in every hotel in the conference city and were pulling every wire for the purpose of securing national aid for their own projects.

ALABAMA MINE BLAST CAUSED BY BROKEN WIRE

ed by means of two man-ways and by the main entry.

Flames shot hundreds of feet in the air from the mine mouth, enveloping the superstructure and making it impossible for rescue workers to descend for several hours. When the flames subsided, rescuers found tracks twisted and cables ruined by the run away of a train of trip cars, an accident which caused an electric spark to touch off the dangerous dust.

In feverish haste means of exit were established in the main entry but before this was accomplished scores of the entombed men had answered the welcoming shouts of rescue workers who had entered from the remote man-ways from other mines. From all three exits men were carried out or climbed to safety, singly, in twos, and groups, during the hours immediately following the explosion. The after-damp quickly filled the pit and the lives of rescuers as well as those imprisoned were imperilled.

Not until the last body was removed did the crowd of anxious women and children turn away from the pit. Stoicism in many cases overcame hysterics and even those who had lost loved ones looked on as the work of identification went on in mute horror and grief.

HOUSE CLEARS WAY FOR CONSIDERATION OF SHIPPING BILL

House Democrats in Caucus Agree to Vote Solidly Against the Measure

WASHINGTON. — The way was cleared for the beginning of the fight in the house Thursday over the administration shipping bill, given right of way by the adoption of a resolution brought in by the rules committee Wednesday.

Although the resolution, which carried provision for unlimited amendment and a vote on final passage November 29, was adopted by a vote of 200 to 110, house leaders did not believe this could be taken as an indication of the final line-up on the measure.

House democrats at a caucus late Wednesday agreed to vote solidly against the shipping bill, but Representative O'Connor, Louisiana, announced afterward that he would not be bound by the party action.

TWO WOMEN KILLED IN MOTOR ACCIDENT NEAR MILWAUKEE

Husbands of Couple Escape Without Injury When Car Goes Over Embankment

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Two wives, Mrs. Nellie Greenberg, 38, and Mrs. Mandauke Robinson, 35, both of Beloit, were instantly killed while their husbands escaped without a scratch when the automobile in which the four were driving to Milwaukee from Beloit, overturned and plunged down a six-foot embankment ten miles out of the city this morning.

Edward Greenburg was driving the car, with his wife beside him. Robinson and his wife occupied the rear seat of the large touring car. Both women sat on the right side of the car.

In turning the corner at Dead Man's Curve, near the Bell farm on the Mukwonago road near the old Waukesha road, the hub of the front wheel struck a post of the projecting fence, hurling the car through the fence and sending it toppling down the six-foot embankment. The women were pinned beneath the car, being killed instantly. The men were thrown clear of the car in its plunge.

BADGER DELEGATION TO WORK WITH G. O. P. IN HOUSE SAYS FREAR

WASHINGTON. — Representative Frear, republican, of Wisconsin, said in a statement Thursday he had been instructed to announce that the Wisconsin delegation in the house expected to work "individually and collectively with the republican organization as heretofore." He added however, that the delegation was interested primarily in the enactment of progressive legislation which "is interpreted to be a recent mandate from the peole."

The statement was in response to queries from many sources as to how the Wisconsin representatives would line up in the election of a speaker and floor leader in the next congress, especially in view of the recent call of Senator La Follette for a conference of progressives.

JUDGE REFUSES A STAY OF EXECUTION TO DE VALERA AIDE

DUBLIN.—By The Associated Press.—A writ of habeas corpus was refused Erskine Childers, lieutenant of Eamon De Valera, by the master of the rolls Thursday.

To an application by Patrick Lynch, Childers' counsel, for a stay of execution, the judge replied that he could not give it as he had no jurisdiction.

In refusing the writ of habeas corpus the master declared he must take judicial notice of the fact that southern Ireland had been enduring a state of war for months and that plainly it was the duty of the government whether provisional or finally constituted, to preserve and save the country from destruction. Force must be met by force.

MARINETTE WILL MEET TEAM CHOSEN BY NEWSPAPERS

Will Stage Battle at Green Bay on December 9 With Selected Team

MARINETTE, Wis.—Paul Neverman, superintendent of schools here, in a statement to the Associated Press Wednesday, declared that Marinette high school is willing to meet any high school team, selected by the Milwaukee and Green Bay newspapers, in a championship battle at Green Bay December 9. Mr. Neverman also declared that the local high school was justified last season in not playing La Crosse because "that team had been tied by a squad which previously had been easily defeated by Marinette."

Mr. Neverman's statement in response to Coach Keogan's statement today in reference to the present high school football situation follows:

"If Coach Keogan of La Crosse, would adhere to facts, Marinette would not be compelled to make another statement on the present football situation.

"Marinette agreed to play La Crosse last Thanksgiving day at La Crosse on condition that La Crosse would not meet with defeat before that date. The week before Thanksgiving, at which date Madison defeated La Crosse, the latter had a representative in this city for the purpose of making final arrangements for the La Crosse-Marinette game. However, he did not make his presence known. La Crosse had been previously tied by a team which Marinette had easily defeated.

"La Crosse did not offer Marinette game this year until Marinette had offered a date to West Allis.

"Marinette will play any contender, selected by the Milwaukee papers or the Green Bay Press-Gazette, for a state championship at Green Bay on December 9."

HUPS WIN THREE AND TRIBUNE IS SECOND IN LIST

The Hupmobiles lived up to the dope and won three games from the Tag Harts in the weekly bowling of the commercial bowling league Wednesday night.

Winning two out of three from the Marinellos while the Gateway Grocery lost two to Stavrum and Fraser, the Tribune settled comfortably into second place.

The Moose came through with three over the Tri-States, who have yet to win a game, and incidentally, get their shirts. The boys claim they will win one before the season is over. Knutson helped the Moose along considerably with his high average.

The Eagles doused the W. M. L. & P. company for three games, while the Ideal Wet Wash took two out of three from the Matthews Manufacturing company.

OLD GRADS GET BACK OF ADVANCE TICKET SALE FOR LA CROSSE-SUPERIOR TILT

PLANS for the La Crose-Superior football game on Turkey Day got under way at a rousing meeting of alumni and friends of the high school Wednesday night.

An enthusiastic bunch of "old grads" came to the aid of the Red and Black in an advance ticket sale organization meeting at the Chamber of Commerce and swallowed every pasteboard Faculty Manager Scott had printed. It was predicted that by Friday night the managing committee, appointed by H. K. Holley, '02, elected chairman of the meeting, would be sending out an S. O. S. for additional tickets.

John Hayes, '03, George Irvine, '04, Art Schwalbe, '09, Harold Stavrum, '12, alumni, and Robert Claiborne, of the Lorrillard tobacco company, were appointed by Holley on the managing committee to stage the ticket sale. In addition tickets were issued to twenty-five other alumni and friends of the school to be sold throughout the city. To be on the safe side, "Buy early and often" and get in on the sweeping drive to relieve the high school athletic council of the financial burden pending in bringing Superior, one of the strongest contenders for the state title, to La Crosse on Thanksgiving Day.

Coach Keogan was called upon to relate what he thought the high school was going to do to Superior. He was modest, to say the least, in all of his remarks regarding the game. "Our team is in the best of condition and it is going out there to fight its best. If that fight is better than Superior can offer, we will beat them. As far as the ticket sale is concerned, I don't believe you will have any trouble in selling out this game."

LA CROSSE YET UNDEFEATED WHEN GAME WAS CANCELLED BY MARINETTE, SAYS KEOGAN

CHICAGO, Ill.—Following the cancellation of their game Saturday with Marinette, Wis., high by the Badger scholastics, Tilden's football team is without a game for Saturday and would like to book a struggle with an out of town high school eleven. Call Mr. Schrock or Conrad, at Tilden High School, Wabash 3401.

REPLYING to a statement of Paul Neverman, superintendent of schools at Marinette, to the Associated Press yesterday, Coach George Keogan of the La Crosse high school issued a statement today in which he declared the "facts of the case," referring to negotiations between the La Crosse and Marinette high schools, were truthfully presented in detail.

The statement was made in answer to Marinette charges yesterday that Marinette agreed to meet the local team in the event the latter remained undefeated up until the Thanksgiving day date. Coach Keogan contends that La Crosse was let undefeated when the Turkey day game was called off by Marinette.

Coach Keogan's statement is as follows:

"Up until the time La Crosse met Madison last year on November 17, the local team had been undefeated. Marinette up until that date had been defeated by Oshkosh, 19 to 0. Even with La Crosse undefeated, and Marinette with a defeat against them, we agreed to play Marinette here on Thanksgiving day.

"On Friday evening, November 16, the night before La Crosse played Madison, and the day before the local team met with defeat, Marinette, in a telephone conversation with myself and G. M. Wiley, high school principal, called off the Marinette-La Crosse game, which had in the first place been suggested by P. A. Neverman at the Milwaukee conference. These are the facts in the case."

FOOTBALL INTEREST IN MIDWEST CENTERS ON 3 IMPORTANT TILTS

CHICAGO, Ill.—Football interest in the midwest Thursday, approaching a climax, centered on three of next Saturday's games—Chicago vs. Wisconsin at Chicago; Iowa vs. Northwestern at Iowa City, and Michigan vs. Minnesota at Minneapolis. The results of these three games will determine the champion or perhaps the champions of the "Big Ten" conference.

Of the three the Maroons will apparently be forced to show the most speed as the Badgers have a heavy, hard hitting team. Northwestern, it is believed, will not prove a hard one for Iowa as it is one of the weakest teams in the conference. Michigan was expected to outclass the Gophers at least by a small margin.

HUNTERS FINED

LAONA, Wis.—Eleven hunters paid fines and costs counting to nearly $650 in municipal courts here when they pleaded guilty to violating the game laws. The men were arrested in one day by conservation wardens Robinson and Tie. Owing to the fact that he was a veteran of the Civil war, one violator, near 80 years old, was released on payment of costs.

About the only time that we can borrow without interest is when distance lends enchantment to the view.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

COBB'S BATTING AVERAGE FOR YEAR OVER 400 MARK

Detroit Manager Completes His Third Year With High Average; Ties League Record

CHICAGO, Ill.—Ty Cobb, manager of the Detroit Americans, announced here Thursday that he had been unofficially informed his batting average for 1922, is over the 400 mark, indicating he was allowed a disputed hit in a game at New York last May. Cobb is here as a delegate from his home state, Georgia, to the Southern Commercial Congress.

This 400 average makes Cobb's third season above that figure, tying the major league record of J. Burkett of Cleveland in the old National league in the late '90's. Cobb will not know the exact figure of his average until the season batting totals are announced by President Johnson of the American league.

NEW YORK.—Terms for a fifteen round bout on December 29 at Madison Square Garden for the light heavyweight title of America were accepted by Harry Greb, and Gene Tunney.

BADGERS THROUGH HEAVY SCRIMMAGE AT CAMP RANDALL

Wisconsin Planning Versatile Attack for Saturday's Wind-up Clash

MADISON, Wis.—In the last heavy scrimmage before the Chicago game Saturday, Coach Richards sent the Wisconsin regulars through a gruelling drill at Camp Randall Wednesday. He used reserves in many of the positions, indicating that there will be changes in the line-up when the Badgers and Maroons clash.

Wisconsin is preparing a versatile attack for Saturday's game and is getting in shape to meet the line-smashing tactics of their foe. The Badger forward wall has stood every test of the season and is not fearful of the line smashing of Thomas, the Chicago ace.

Steve Polaski, reserve end, may be opposite Tebell, when the teams line up Saturday, because of his showing against Michigan. Jack Harris is also expected to have a try at halfback for the first time this season.

The Wisconsin team will leave tomorrow morning for Chicago.

ALMOND POWER PLANT BURNS

STEVENS POINT, Wis.—The village of Almond, Portage county, will probably be without electric lights through the entire winter, as the result of a fire which gutted the power plant there. It is believed that the oil burning engine used to operate the dynamo in the plant was damaged to such an extent by the flames that it cannot be repaired until spring.

WILL TAKE ON MARINETTE IF LOCALS LOSE

SUPERIOR, Wis.—If they win at La Crosse Thanksgiving day the Superior Central High school football team would accept an invitation to play Marinette for state championship honors at Green Bay providing a satisfactory financial agreement can be made, according to Fred Carson, he local coach.

Appreciating that Superior will meet tough opposition, Coach Carson is putting his players through an intensive training campaign for La Crosse. While several of the regulars are suffering with colds, the general physical condition of the team is good.

RICHARDS OFFERS EDUCATION AT "U" TO JIMMY MAYBURY

MADISON, Wis.—John R. Richards, football coach at the University of Wisconsin Wednesday confirmed the report that he had offered to pay the expenses of a university education for Jimmie Maybury, son of the late James Maybury, famous Wisconsin sprinter. The boy has been asked by Coach Richards to attend the university here.

"James Maybury and I were close college friends at Wisconsin," the coach said. "I learned when at Minneapolis, November 4, that his young son, now a high school pupil, might not be able to attend the university because of his father's death. I asked to be permitted to pay his expenses as a student here.

"The boy is not an athlete and this request of mine was made as a friend."

MOVIES

DAVIS FILM AT MAJESTIC

When the talented author and globe trotter, Richard Harding Davis, wrote his popular story, "The Men of Zanzibar," he penned a romance vivid with tropic coloring and deep-reaching in its movement among the polyglot populace of one of the less known places of the earth. It is certainly interesting to know that William Fox, the motion picture producer, has recognized in this story most appealing material for a screen drama. This he has made, with William Russell as the star.

The picture, which comes to the Majestic theatre today, Friday and Saturday, is said to reflect the dramatic touches for which Davis was famous, the mystery that takes his stories out of the ordinary class, and a romance without which the tale would be neither Davis-like nor complete.

AT THE RIVIERA TODAY

Man's passion for gems of one sort or another have led to adventure and crime for time immemorial. Many are the jewels whose histories are chronicles written in letters of blood, records of shattered lives, devastated hopes, wrecked ambition. A tragic sequence and one which brings to the picture a touch of pathos, is found in "Man's Law and God's," the Fine Fox production featuring Jack Livingstone and Ethel Shannon, which is the feature attraction at the Riviera today.

"Cameo" Brooks, so-called for his passion for cameos, a gambler in "The Eagle's Nest," is stripped of his collection of these gems by a Canuck whom he had been trying to fleece at poker.

The man hunt which follows gives thrill to the picture. The brazenness of Brooks and his passing for the dead, which overcomes discretion highlight the picture by giving rise to situations which heighten the suspense.

NEW RAY SEEN IN "A TAILOR MADE MAN"

Charles Ray in "A Tailor Made Man" is the featured attraction at the Rivoli theatre this week, a fact for which the cinema-going public should be extremely thankful. For here is a photoplay as refreshing as mountain air, and replete with wit and wisdom, both wholesome and sophisticated, affording Charles Ray one of the best vehicles of his screen career. Those who are admirers of the whimsical Ray can look forward to a genuine treat; in fact, those who attended the first performance yesterday were in a high state of mirth and excitement throughout.

"A Tailor Made Man" is the first of Mr. Ray's big features for United Artists, and is a screen comedy drama of a higher type. Its humor springs naturally from a combination of logical events, and is happily bereft of slapstickianism. It is Charles Ray's intense humanness, investing the character of John Paul Bart with logical motives and rational impulses raised to a high degree of enthusiasm, plus the sound philosophy of the play, that makes the screen version of "A Tailor Made Man" such delectable and noteworthy entertainment.

The story tells how John Paul Bart extricated himself from the ruck of drudgery to a high place in the social and business world, through a workable theory; part of which lays stress on the importance of good clothes in moulding a man's self-estimate and in influencing those about him.

"CARDIGAN" AT STRAND TODAY

"Cardigan," produced by Messmore Kendall, from the famous novel by Robert W. Chambers, is the first American historical production ever screened. It tells the romantic story of a youth and maid drawn by chance into the dramatic struggle for American Independence. The cast is headed by William Collier, Jr., son of the famed dramatic actor. Others are Betty Carpenter, Thomas Cummings, William Pike, Charles E. Graham, Madeleine Lubecty, Harry Delaro, Louis Dean, Colin Campbell, Jere Austin, Frank R. Montgomery, Eleanor Griffith, Dick Lee, Jack Johnston, Florence Short, and many others. There are 4,000 in the cast, and the scenes depict the high spots in the American Revolution such as the Battle of Lexington, the Battle of Concord and the complete rout of the Red Coats at Concord. All the famous characters, who made Revolutionary history, are shown in their simple glory.

FIGHTS CERTIFICATION OF SHERIFF CANDIDATE

SHELL LAKE, Wis.—H. W. McKeever, defeated candidate at the recent election for sheriff of Washburn county, has served through his attorneys a writ of mandamus restraining county clerk A. F. Cameron from issuing a certificate of election to James A. Johnson, who was elected to succeed himself as sheriff of this county by a four to one vote over McKeever. Mr. McKeever alleged among other things that all votes cast for Johnson were cast in bad faith because of the fact that a sheriff cannot succeed himself, and he has made a demand on the county clerk for a certificate of election, claiming that under the statutes he is duly elected.

A hearing is being held at Barron before Judge Foley in the circuit court.

BONNIE SCOTS AT THE RIVOLI ARE BIG ATTRACTION

Royal Stuarts Present Fine Entertainment Last Half of Week

It is hard to make a group of Americans, such as make up the typical theater audience, admit that there is music in the sounds emitted by bagpipes, but the crowd that filed out of the Rivoli theater Wednesday night was unanimous in the praise of the Royal Stuarts, appearing in a Scotch offering entitled "In Merry Scotland." This act is easily one of the best that has ever appeared on the boards at the Rivoli theater, and is one of those rare treats so seldom found in vaudeville anywhere.

From the time of the opening number of their varied program, the seven entertainers hold the undivided attention of the audience, who show appreciation by repeated and prolonged applause. Donald Stuart, the manager of the troupe, is a typical Scot, who entertains with songs and with real music from his bagpipe. Miss Edna Bray proved a delight in her solo, "Annie Laurie," which was beautifully rendered. The comedy element was supplied by Miss Henderson, who set the audience a-laughing with her comic songs and her line of comedy talking. It isn't often that four such "bonnie lasses" are seen with a vaudeville troupe, but the girls who appear with the Royal Stuarts are a pleasing exception. They sing and dance well, too. The features of their dancing are an Irish jig, in which all take part, and a Sailor's Hornpipe by two of them. The finale number of the act, a band with drums and pipes, is especially good.

The Royal Stuart company traveled for two years in Scotland and with the same act that they present here. They have been in America only three months.

The other acts on the bill are also good attractions. The three Moran sisters present a musical offering consisting of piano, violin and trombone numbers that is well above the ordinary, and Morton and Lewis in their skit, "Just Two Pals," are a couple of amiable nuts who keep the audience convulsed with laughter.

Zillah, "The Girl with the X-Ray Eyes," is one of the big features of the show. She answers, accurately and rapidly, the questions put to her, and though blindfolded, describes persons in the audience. Between the matinee and evening performances she gives private information free of charge in the ladies' reception room.

KELLER ASKED FOR SPECIFIC CHARGES AGAINST DAUGHERTY

WASHINGTON.—The house judiciary committee adopted a resolution Thursday calling on Representative Keller, republican, Minnesota, to present by December 1, a statement of facts showing the alleged act or acts for which he has asked for the impeachment of Attorney General Daugherty.

Mr. Keller further was requested to name as far as possible the "persons involved in each transaction, the time and place thereof and the witnesses by which such facts can be established."

The average depth of all the oceans, gulfs and seas is estimated at from two to two and one-half miles.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK—Opening prices in Thursday's stock market were irregular with the main tendency downward in reflection of further bear selling and liquidation by frightened and disappointed investors. Railroad shares were again the hardest hit, Wheeling and Lake Erie breaking 2¼, the common 3¾, Northern Pacific and New York Central 1½ each, Great Northern preferred 1¼ and Missouri Pacific preferred half to a new low record for the year. St. Louis Southwestern preferred improved slightly, Baldwin dropped down below 121 for a net loss of more than 1⅜ points and losses of one to three points took place in Studebaker, Columbia Gas, Continental Can, American Linseed, Woolworth and Pacific Oil, the last named at a new low. Utah and Chino Copper, American Sugar and Electric Storage Battery moved to higher levels. Foreign exchanges opened firm.

There was a marked absence of recuperative power in the market during the morning, some of the liquidation apparently being based on the theory that if stocks could not be bid up they should be sold. Professional sentiment continued bearish and the steady decline of prices seemed to keep small operators and investors out of the market except for occasional forced liquidation. Heavy selling of railroad shares was attributed to the calling of bank loans secured by those issues. In the industrial group, steels, tobaccos, shippings and leathers gave way the most with coppers and sugars offering the most resistance. Short covering and sporadic new buying of Corn Products, Burns Brothers AA and Sears-Roebuck sent those stocks to a point or more above Wednesday's close while Fisher Body was pushed up six points. Call money opened at 5 per cent.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.—With ideal weather, car shortage abating, and an apparent lull in export buying, the wheat market had a downward tendency Thursday during the early dealings. Talk of plans for government help in financing sales to foreign countries failed to stir up any important new buying. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅜c lower, with May $1.16⅝ to ¾ and July $1.07¾ to $1.08⅛, was followed by a moderate further setback.

Indications of export business at the Gulf of Mexico led to something of an upturn in prices about the middle of the session, but the effect failed to last. The close was heavy, ¼ to 1c net lower with May $1.16¼ to ⅜ and July $1.07⅝.

Corn declined with wheat. After opening ¼c off to a like advance May 70 to ¼ the market underwent a general sag.

In subsequent dealings the market rallied owing to reports that the south and west were bidding higher. The close was steady at same as Wednesday's finish to ⅛c off with May 70⅛ to ¼c.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛c lower, May 42⅜ to ⅝c and later continued to ease down.

Provisions lacked support.

UPHOLD PENALTY FOR VIOLATION OF INDENTURES

MADISON, Wis.—Validity of the Wisconsin apprenticeship law which imposes a penalty for violation of the working agreement between indentured minors and their employers, was upheld Thursday by R. M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general, in an opinion to the industrial commission.

Mr. Hoyt held that the apprenticeship statute is part of the legal machinery of the state for instruction of its youth in useful occupations, and as a result the state may compel compliance with its provisions. Under the apprenticeship law either party to an indenture who fails to perform any of the stipulations, may be forced to forfeit not less than $1 nor more than $100, such forfeit to be collected on complaint of the industrial commission and paid into the state treasury.

"I am sure, Mr. Hoyt said, "that the law making it a criminal offense to violate an indenture of apprenticeship would not be held to violate the constitutional rights of the parties to the indenture."

Mr. Hoyt held further that the father of a minor entering into the apprenticeship agreement could be held liable for the violations of that agreement by his son.

ART NOTES

Schools of Fine Arts, schools of design, of architecture, of music, throughout the land are founded on the conception that art is essential to life; that in its various manifestations in poetry, music, painting, sculpture, it forms an integral part of the heritage of culture, the knowledge of which is essential to true education; and that if this heritage is to be handed down to posterity as a living force the artist, the musician, etc., must be trained in its best traditions.

* * * *

The small regard in which the fine arts are held is undoubtedly the greatest lack in American civilization today. A feeling that there is something superfluous in all culture is directed most often against the fine arts; and an interest in them, or an appreciation of them, is met coldly, if not contemptuously, by a far too great number of people.

The point of view is owing in part to our Puritan ancestry and in part to our devotion in the past to the material work of building up our country. Between these two influences we have a feeling that art is slightly dangerous, or that it is something beyond or beneath, the attention of hard-headed and practical men of affairs.

So, an indifference and a profound ignorance of art and of the aims of the artist, exist in the minds of men supposedly well-educated. It is the belief of Universities (most of which now have a department of fine arts, of art institutes, of the founders of art associations, promoters of art exhibits art-workers' clubs, the Business Men's Art club of Chicago, of music-study clubs, literature-study clubs, and all such concerted effort that the exercise of an educated, critical intelligence, bringing with it the enjoyment of beauty, is one of the things that civilized man finds best worth while, and that the idea that a knowledge of the fine arts be regarded as negligible or subordinate to material things can exist only in a backward and uncultured community.

* * * *

It was with some such general convictions as these that the Art Association of La Crosse was formed some ten or more years ago, that a pathetically small group of persons is still found who are willing to give, in unstinted measure, their time and energy to bring to our city and manage frequent exhibitions of America's finest art products and that a large enough portion of our citizens can be persuaded to support this movement with their membership and interest. The number of these supporters is gradually increasing and will, we believe, continue to do so.

* * * *

It may not be generally known that there is in La Crosse a group of serious art workers, just as there are groups of people vitally interested in the study of the other branches of fine art, music and literature. It is in the nature of such persons to be quiet and somewhat modest; certainly so as to their own accomplishments, for any serious study in any of these lines soon reveals the vast unknown, the stretches of plain and the mountain heights beyond.

However, it does at times become necessary to make our existence known. It is good for all these workers to get together occasionally and gain what they can from friendly criticism and comparison of each other's work. Encouragement, too comes from the recognition and comment which the public can give.

And so it happens that the local art workers, next week, are going to make their second annual bow to the public. With much fear and trembling they are to exhibit for awhile the young, staggering, stammering children of their brains and brushes to the public gaze. Perhaps the people of La Crosse will again show the interest manifested a year ago in the local exhibit and in whatever growth these persons have made in the year. The effort, at least we may say, has been sincerely honest. Also, if you wish to encourage local effort, and should find something that pleases, you may, for a modest sum, own some of these pictures.

* * * *

All work should be at the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow (Friday) in order that they may be hung and a catalog be promptly printed.

* * * *

The rules are:

1—All pictures must be original work, not copied.

2—Pictures must be matted or framed.

3—Work submitted must not have been exhibited previously by the Art Association.

4—Work may be in any medium.

5—Title and artist's name should be on back of picture, or be in some way attached to each picture.

6—Exhibitors, not members of the Art Association, will pay a fee of $1.00 for the privilege of exhibiting.

* * * *

But it costs only $3.00 a year to support the Art Association. All teachers of all kinds in the city and all students join for $1.00 a year.

When you receive through the mail as you will soon a suggestion to join or to renew your membership, deal gently and generously with it. The membership committee will soon send you a reminder.

BLAINE BACK AT HIS DESK AFTER SOUTHERN TRIP

Governor Prepares to Tackle Budget Requests of State Departments

WILL SOON BEGIN WORK ON MESSAGE TO LEGISLATURE

Executive Entering Upon Busiest Season of the Year

MADISON, Wis.—Governor Blaine was back in his office Thursday prepared to tackle administrative problems growing out of the large budget requests of the state departments, and to commence preparation of his message to the coming session of the legislature.

For the past ten days the governor has been travelling through the central states as a sales agent for Wisconsin products. His talks in leading cities of the Middle West boosting the state of which he is the chief executive, attracted wide attention and opened the way for more extensive trade relations between Wisconsin and other commonwealths of the Mississippi valley.

The immediate attention of Governor Blaine is now expected to be turned to state finances, in an effort to arrive at a definite policy in dealing with departmental requests for appropriations. He will probably call the state board of public affairs into session for another meeting either Friday of this week, or early next week.

With practically all budgets now before it, the board estimates that biennial appropriation requests are nearly $9,000,000 larger than those granted by the 1921 legislature. The governor has indicated that he would approve of few increases and set an example for other departments by announcing that the executive would continue for the next two years on the same apropriation that it had in 1921.

The board will determine its recommendations to the legislature for appropriations, according to the wishes of Governor Blaine who will be called on to say whether or not increases are to be recommended for individual departments and institutions.

Besides carrying on his other executive duties, the governor during the next month, must prepare his formal message to the legislature with recommendations for legislation. Before a decision on important problems under consideration, is reached, Governor Blaine will hold extensive conferences. His advice to the session will carry great weight because of the control his faction of the Republican party exercises over both houses.

Governor Blaine is entering on his busiest season with scarcely a letup from now until the close of the legislature.

LEGION SHOW READY FIRST PERFORMANCE ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Big Musical Revue Will be Given Thursday and Friday at the La Crosse Theater

"A glittering galaxy of gorgeously gowned girlies"—the circus poster, with its extravagant use of adjectives, might well be used to describe the chorus numbers of the American Legion Frivol Revue which is showing for the first time Thursday night at the La Crosse theater under the direction of the Gerber Producing company. The second and last performance of the show will be held on Friday evening.

In all of the choruses of the big musical extravaganza which is being put on by the local legionnaires, the splendor and beauty of the costumes is eclipsed only by the beauty and grace of the young ladies who wear them. In the ballet and solo dancing features the performers achieve triumphs that many stage folks of riper experience would be proud of, and in all of the numbers the tuneful melodies of the soloists are enhanced by the support of the choruses.

The show isn't entirely a pageant of gorgeous costumery and stage setting, however. One part of the Revue is devoted to the comical farce, "In Bad," which shows a variety of people in ridiculous and funny situations. Those appearing in this part, though amateurs, are all performers of considerable ability and not a little experience, so that a good entertainment is assured.

The second part of the show is devoted to a type of minstrelsy, called "An Entertainment at the Terrace Garden Country Club." This is the part in which the funny end men have their turn, and the gags they pull are all new and original. Dr. Dean Crowell is the interlocutor in this number, in which many special acts and a large mixed chorus are featured.

Much more might be said of the excellence of the show—especially the syncopated harmony achieved by the Callaway Novelty orchestra, and the picturesque beauty of the "Passing Parade," a sumptuous Oriental number with the incomparable "Princess Ballet"—in fact every number on the bill is well worth seeing and to attempt to describe them all would be futile.

The best way is to see them Thursday night. If you can't get there Thursday, there is another performance Friday evening. The seats are selling fast, but the boys will take care of all who wish to attend on either night.

Don't expect to grow heavenly wings by your name on the fly leaf of the Bible.—West Salem Nonpareil-Journal.

MAROON PAPER AGAINST LARGER GRID STADIUM

CHICAGO, Ill.—An editorial printed in the recent issue of the Daily Maroon, official student publication of the University of Chicago, declaring that "active members of the university and faculty members do not want an enlarged stadium" was the subject of comment among football fans Thursday.

"The huge crowds which have flocked to Stagg field this season," the editorial declared, "are exceptional."

Concluding, the editorial stated that the "university is not a part of Chicago and that it receives no money from Chicago or Illinois, except in the form of tuition, such as is paid by students from other states and countries."

"Hence," it added, "the university need not cater to the football tastes of the public."

KING OPENS BRITISH PARLIAMENT WITH ALL POMP AND CEREMONY

Follows Ancient Custom in Calling Together New Law-making Body

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—King George Thursday opened the first session of the new parliament with all the pomp and ceremony attendant upon this ancient formality. Driving with the queen in the state coach drawn by eight horses and attended by a glittering escort of Life Guards, the king passed from Buckingham palace through streets lined with troops to Westminster palace, where he followed the old custom of donning the gorgeous royal robes.

Still accompanied by the queen, the king then walked in a gay procession to the house of lords, attended by numerous court officials, officers and heralds. Arrived at the upper chamber he read his speech from the throne to the robed peers and as many commoners as were able to crowd into the small space available.

After this ceremony, parliament adjourned until afternoon when the address in reply to the king's speech will be formally moved and seconded. James R. MacDonald, as the leader of the new opposition, will then move the first amendment to the king's address. It is expected that Mr. MacDonald, as the new parliamentary head of the laborites, will call for alleviation of the distress arising from unemployment.

BUSINESSMEN FROM SOUTH PLAN TRADE. JUNKET TO MEXICO

CHICAGO, Ill.—Activities of delegates to the Southern Commercial congress, who adjourned their fifteenth annual session here Wednesday night, have shifted to Mexico where a representative body is to spend two weeks in the interest of trade promotion.

The itinerary of the trade delegation called for departure Thursday morning for St. Louis over the Illinois central road to St. Louis and from there to San Antonio over the Missouri Pacific. The delegation will remain in San Antonio Friday night, leaving Saturday morning for Mexico City, where they are scheduled to arrive early Monday morning.

After a few days they afforded relief, and when I had used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Arthur E.
